League and American Association Clubs
This Afternoon.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 4.—Boston had luck enough to win in the ninth today, and the knocker out the run when it was anyone's game. True enough it was that Boston ought to have won. The Bean Eaters out-batted and outfielded the Snaky City nine. But still they had a terrible pull and were very nervous until the close. A loss of to-day's game meant that Boston would probably never see the pennant of 1890, for New York was winning in hollow style at Cleveland as could be seen by the bulletin board, while the Bostonians were straining every nerve to pull the game out here.

"Kid" Madden and Bennett were the battery. The boy did splendid work except in the third inning, and there he came very near being the man who would have had the blame of losing the pennant for Boston. Neither side had scored until the third, when Boston blanked Pittsburg and got two runs themselves. In the very next inning, however, Pittsburg got onto the "Kid," and with a little ragged fielding three runs were scored over the rubber. Boston led the score in the fifth, and from that time until the ninth no runs could be scored by either side. It looked like a tie game, called on account of darkness, when the ninth began. But Boston luck was pre-eminent.
The Pittsburgs were blanked and Boston scored the winning run. The crowd was fair and the enthusiasm was great. The excitement was well kept up. Staley and Miller were the Pittsburg battery.

The following is the score by innings:
Innings 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9
Pittsburg 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0
Boston 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 1
Base hits—Pittsburg, 8; Boston, 11. Errors—
Pittsburg, 3; Boston, 1. Batteries—Pittsburg, Staley and Miller; Boston, Madden and Bennett. Umpire—Powers.

New York, 5; Cleveland, 1.
By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.
CLEVELAND, Oct. 4.—The Cleveland Club
is no match for the New Yorks as was evidenced yesterday and to-day. Welch pitched as good a game for the visitors to-day as Keefe did yesterday and fooled the home boys, not allowing them but two hits up to the fifth inning. An error was responsible for a run in the first inning.

The following is the score by innings:
Innings 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9
Cleveland 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0
New York 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 1
Base hits—Cleveland, 15; New York, 7. Errors—
Cleveland, 4; New York, 3. Batteries—Cleveland—
Blakely and Zimmer; New York—
Welch and Ewing. Umpire—Lynch.

Chicago, 3; Philadelphia, 0.
By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.
CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 4.—The Chicago and Philadelphia Clubs played a very exciting game here to-day, neither side scoring until the sixth inning, when the home club scored two earned runs. The clubs are very evenly matched. Hutchinson and Darling played the game for the home club and put the visitors out in rotation. The Chicago boys caught on to Buffington after the fifth inning and made several two-baggers scoring two runs in the sixth and again the eighth. Clements played another great game, but was not supported. Not an error was made by the home club, and they shut the visitors out.

The following is the score by innings:
Innings 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9
Chicago 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 3
Philadelphia 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0

Chicago, 4; Philadelphia, 2. Batteries—Chicago, Hutchinson and Darling; Philadelphia,
Buffington and Clements. Umpire—Mc-Quade.

Cincinnati, 8; Louisville, 3.
By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.
CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 4.—The home club started in at the first inning to repeat yesterday's performance in defeating the Louisville Club and did so. Three errors in the second inning gave the visitors two runs and an error in the eighth gave them another run.

Duruya's playing was the feature of the game.
The following is the score by innings:
Innings 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9
Cincinnati 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9
Louisville 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0
Base hits—Cincinnati, 11; Louisville, 6.
Errors—Cincinnati, 3; Louisville, 5. Batteries—
Cincinnati, Duruya and Kernans; Louisville, Harst and Ryan. Umpire—Gaffney.

Kansas City, 8; St. Louis, 4.
Bellefonte, Oct. 4.—The Browns and Kansas Citys played an exhibition game at this city this afternoon. The Browns being defeated in a well-played game.
Crackman, the Browns' center fielder, was put in to pitch and was but fairly effective.
Meeks caught him. Kansas City put Pears, the pitcher of the St.
Louis Jolly Nine, and Gannon at the points.
O'Neill had his batting stick with him, securing a home run and two two-base hits knocking the cover off of two balls. Long, the active little short-stop for Kansas City, did brilliant work, securing four hits with a total of five bases and accepting every chance without an error.

The following is the score by innings:
Innings 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9
St. Louis 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0
Kansas City 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 8

Errors—St. Louis, 5; Kansas City, 1. Batteries—
St. Louis, Gittinger and Meek; Kansas City; Pears and Gannon.

Indianapolis, 6; Washington, 5.
By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 4.—The Indianapolis and Washington clubs played their second game here this afternoon in the presence of a good crowd. It was very close and exciting throughout.

Following is the score by innings:
Innings 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9
Indianapolis 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 6

Errors—Indianapolis, 3; Washington, 2. Batteries—
Indianapolis, Fee and Summers;
Washington, Cook and Riddle. Umpire—Knight.

To-Morrow's Game.
The Browns will play their next to last championship game this season to-morrow afternoon with the Cowboys, and will endeavor to win their sixth consecutive victory.
Tom Ramsey, who has been pitching splendently for the Browns, will be in the box for the champions, with Allington supporting him.
This season's campaign will be in the points for Kansas City Manager Watkins and his men feel sure that their continued defeat will be a real fight. The game will be called at 3:30 p. m.

Diamond Chips.
Kansas City again to-morrow.
Ramsey and Stivett are doing excellent work in the box for the Browns. They are a great pair.
If Gittinger proves a success as a twirler at Bellefonte, he will doubtless officialize in Sunday's contest.
The Kansas City team is hard up for pitchers and it is probable that Manager Watkins will send to St. Louis for a local twirler of some note, who played in the Colorado State League this season.

Tennis Tournament.
There will be a tournament for the championship of St. Louis County, open to all competitors, held at the residence of the St. Louis Tennis Club, on the 11th of October. The club has offered a purse of $100 to the winner of the first prize, and the E. C. Neacham Arm Co. has donated a Sears' special racket with engraved silver plate for second prize.

A STRINGENT MONEY MARKET.

Bankers Frightened by the Export of Gold—
Heavy Decline in Stocks.

New York, Oct. 4.—Money in the Stock Exchange continued stringency today and 10 per cent per annum was paid by the majority of borrowers for the use of money until Monday.
Some of the banks called in loans early, and intimated to their friends that it could not be helped. The situation was aggravated later by the announcement of the withdrawal of $500,000 more gold by Belmont & Co. making $1,500,000 taken by them this week for shipment to Europe. This export move caused considerable surprise, as the rates of exchange are far below the gold shipping point. Belmont & Co. explain that the gold is shipped to Rotterdam in order to assist in fulfilling a contract
made with the British government.
In addition to Belmont's shipment, commercial houses have shipped $300,000 in gold to London for the same purpose.
These combined influences caused general fears of a money panic, and the calling of loans in many cases forced holders to throw over their stocks. In consequence, prices declined rapidly. Sugar Trusts falling from 9½ to 8½, cotton-seed from 45 to 40, and Chicago Gas from 85 to 55. The Trust stocks fell by far the greatest sufferers, but the entire list shared in the decline, and Atchafalpa and the general list had made a heavy decline in the afternoon.
A $150 market was quiet, but firm.

RAILROAD NEWS.

The Interstate Commerce Commission and the Railway Association.
CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 4.—The full text of the ruling of the Interstate Commerce Commission in the case of the Interstate Commerce Railway Association against the Atton, whereby the right of a railroad association to prose-road company is denied, was given today. It has no legal standing in court and could not be recognized as an individual or corporation, has been submitted to the members of the association by Chairman Walker for their information. It appears that Commissioner who dissented from the opinion read by Judge Conley. Mr. Briggs said in part:

"My opinion is that under sec. 13 of the act to regulate commerce, the Interstate Commerce Railway Association is one of the associations mentioned in that section of the law, and I fall to see that we cannot investigate every matter involving this complaint or outside of it with the Interstate Commerce Railway Association as a party, consider matters just as much as if we had all railroads composing that association before us."

The following is the score by innings:

Morris Park Races.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.
MORRIS PARK, WESTCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 4.—
The race track was in splendid condition to-day, and while no records were broken, some were equaled.
Fordham in the first race, with 115 pounds up, ran five-eighths of a mile in 59 seconds, the record time. In the last race Tip-staff, carrying 107 pounds went three-quarters of a mile in 1:11. There were only two starters in the second race, wars broke out and one-eighth miles.
Brother Ban and Now-or-Never. They ran a dead heat and their owners divided the money. The Miss Annie filly did a very fast five-eighths of a mile in the fourth race. Civil Service led all the way to the scratch, but the filly then passed him and won, Civil Service securing the place. The winner was only a neck behind Civil Service
when the stretch was entered.
In the last race Tipstaff took the lead at the quarter and was never afterwards headed, Freedom, who led for the first quarter, running second to him all the way.

A MARINE HORROR.

Particulars of the Foundering of the Steamer Earmore.

Capt. Gray and Eighteen of the Crew Drowned.

The steamer Earmore, a terrible hurricane and shipwrecked vessel, the captain and crew abandoned the vessel and took to the boats. The mate and six men drifted for twenty-two days, enduring great suffering. Rescued by the schooner Mosquito—Story of the Half Dead Survivors.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch. BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 4.—Full details of the foundering of the steamer Earmore, briefly telegraphed to the Post-Dispatch yesterday, have been received here. Nineteen lives were lost. The names of those who perished are as follows: RICHARD J. GREY, Captain. —STONE, second mate. —LOUDET, chief engineer. WM. HANDRELL, second steward. WM. WRIGHT, cook. ROBERT JOHNSON, seaman. KARL J. TURKLESEN, seaman. LUDWIG LODE, seaman. WM. ROBINSON, seaman. EDWARD JOHNSON, seaman. A. LEONARD, fireman. CARL CRANE, fireman. HERMAN TUNES, fireman. HEINRICH MAAS, fireman. A. KOSTER, fireman. A. FLAGGE, fireman. JAMES CHARLATUD, fireman. JAMES SINCLAIR, fireman. JAMES DURANT, mess boy.

The ill-fated steamer. Those known to have been saved are First Mate Palmer, Second Engineer Meidrum and five of the crew. The Earmore was a tramp steamer and was a staunch steel vessel. She sailed from this port on August 29, bound for Rio Janeiro, with a cargo of 8,000 bushels of wheat valued at $7,700. She was specially chartered for this trip by Messrs. T. M. Miller & Co. of this city, who shipped this, the last large cargo of wheat ever sent to Brazil, as an experiment. For many years that country has not raised enough wheat for home consumption, and small quantities have been sent there from the United States for several months past. The steamer was in command of Capt. Richard J. Grey, with a complement of twenty-six men, all told. She reached Hampton Roads August 30, but put to sea again immediately. Nothing of special interest occurred for the first three days out, as the weather was comparatively clear. She was rather a slow boat, designed for freighting exclusively, and did not make over 12 miles a day. A TERRIFIC CYCLONE. She encountered high winds on the night of September 3, and the sea became very rough before the next morning. The storm increased to a hurricane during that day and the steamer was tossed for several hours. She was heavily laden and was so deep in the water that the sea made a clean sweep over her decks for hours and inflicted considerable damage. The cyclone became so terrific that the vessel could make no headway against the sea, her triple expansion engines of 250-horse-power being unable to keep her head to the breeze and the broadside of immense quantities of water were shipped immediately, the fire-room was flooded, the engine-room was flooded, the cargo hold was flooded, the vessel was wholly at the mercy of the terrible gale. During part of that night the crew worked for dear life at the pumps in last despairing effort to save the ship, but the frightful pounding which the hull continued to receive by the monstrous waves caused the seams to open and the water poured in from below and above and gained so rapidly on the weary men that it did not take long to realize the helplessness of the task. Everything was flooded below and the water was gaining steadily in the hold.

As near as could be told by lead reckoning the Earmore was then about 350 miles off the lower coast of Florida and not very far east of the Bahamas Islands. Capt. Grey finally gave up hope and ordered the boats lowered on the morning of September 5. Water and provisions were taken aboard and the crew put off from the sinking vessel in the midst of the raging storm. The captain with his chief engineer, second mate and eighteen of the crew occupied the long boat, while the first mate, second engineer and five of the crew were in the small boat. The force of the hurricane and the shifting winds soon separated the boats and nothing has since been heard of the captain's boat. There is little doubt that the brave commander and the eighteen men who sought safety in the larger boat perished in the cyclone. For over three weeks the first mate and his exhausted crew of nine men drifted on the life-rafts. Day after day passed without the sight of land, until hope began to give way to despair. The men were so weak that they could not row, and the raft began to leak. First all hands were put on short allowance, which had to be reduced from day to day until the last bit of biscuit and the last sup of water was gone, and then came a time of such suffering as only a man who has himself been shipwrecked can form an idea of.

DRIFTING FOR TWENTY-TWO DAYS. After drifting for twenty-two days that his dread alternative of shipwrecked men began to force itself into the mind of the famished seamen, who could be the most of their life to save the others from starvation. The ghastly alternative, however, was not resorted to, because on the twenty-third day a vessel bore in sight. Only one man in the boat was strong enough to hold a signal so as to attract the attention of the life-giving craft. She was the schooner Mosquito from New York bound for Texila. She bore down on them speedily and their dejection was turned to delicious joy when the famished mariners saw that the life signals were seen and that they were saved. The famished men were taken aboard the schooner and landed at Sadeau, New Providence, on September 30, more dead than alive.

THE RESCUED SEAMEN. The engineers and the seamen were suffering from such extreme physical exhaustion that it is feared they will die, while the first mate had only strength enough to give a vague account of the disaster. The rescued men will be sent home to England by the British government. Engineer Meidrum and Mate Palmer have been shipwrecked before and it is thought that their previous experience enabled them to control the crew and hold out the provisions so as to keep the spark of life in their bodies for such a long period of drifting. Meidrum went through a similar adventure at the time the Domingo was foundered last winter.

Killed by the Fall. An inquest was held at the Coroner's office this morning in the case of William R. Dougherty, who died at the Missouri Pacific Hospital yesterday morning from the effect of a fracture of the skull. The evidence developed the facts as told in last night's Post-Dispatch. Dougherty, who was employed as a section-hand on the Iron Mountain Railroad, was at work near Sullivan Road on September 28, when he was accidentally struck by a top of the head by a brick in the hands of the section boss, George Boyce. From this injury he died. His body will be shipped to his home in Moorefield, Ark., for interment.

WANTED BY THE POLICE.

Michael McNamee Accused of Assaulting a Child Only 4 Years of Age.

George Lecroix, living at 6015 South Broadway, has reported to the officers of the First District Police Station at Carondelet that about 6:30 o'clock on the evening of the 2d inst. an 18-year-old boy named Michael McNamee had criminally assaulted his 4-year-old daughter, Christine, in a shed in the rear of Lecroix's residence. Mrs. Lecroix came upon the miscreant and grappled with him, but he was too strong and succeeded in making his escape. Dr. Boher pronounced the child not seriously injured. McNamee has not been seen since, although a close watch has been kept for him. He was an apprentice at the plumbing shop of Terrence McLaughlin, next door to Lecroix's residence, and lived with his mother at 409 East Esplanade street.

WAR ON THE MORMONS.

Elders Driven Out of Wilson Co., Tenn., by the White Caps.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 4.—News comes from Wilson County that the Mormon elders have been driven out by the White Caps. The elders disappeared some time ago when the agitation was hot against them but a few days ago returned, believing the storm had blown over. The people who warned them proposed to make the threat good. Forty masked men visited the house of Wm. Barret, Thomas Smith and Lee Barrett, where the elders have been, searching for them. They had been given warning, however, and not an elder was to be found. These men were cautioned against allowing the elders to ever darken their doors again and the elders left the country yesterday. A number of the converts have declared they are done with it. The experience of a lady of the neighborhood, now in Bowling, Ky., has had a beneficial effect. She went to Utah as a convert, but is back in her old home warning others.

A Defendant's Explanation Which Justice Meehan Would Not Accept.

Ed Watkins has returned from the East. A negro named Calyer Benjamin was before Police Justice Meehan this morning on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. Benjamin claimed that he carried the razor for the purpose of paring his corns. The story, however, had no effect on the magistrate, who fined Benjamin $5 and costs and sent him to the work-house.

The Senate Gun Club gave a prize shoot yesterday at its grounds on the County road. A Doeklet won first and second money. Fred Dorat won third money. The shoot was largely attended by ladies. Iowa's Big Kick.

DES MOINES, Io., Oct. 4.—In the report of Horace A. Taylor, the National Commissioner of Railroads, appear some strictures upon the Iowa railroad laws enacted by the last General Assembly, and under the authority of which the commissioners prepared their schedule of rates. The discussion of the report has brought Gov. Larrabee to the front as a champion of the law, and in a letter addressed to President Harrison he has defended the law against the implication of the Railroad Commissioner and protests against his interference in Iowa affairs. He suggests that Iowa people are abundantly able to manage their own affairs and do not need the assistance or advice of the Government officials.

Weather forecast for twenty-four hours, commencing at 8 a. m. to-day, for Missouri: Fair Saturday and Sunday; slightly warmer, followed by slightly cooler; variable winds.

The Jefferson Barracks Court of Inquiry is rapidly getting at the facts.

Bad food, filthy quarters, neglect of inspection and punishment for complaining are some of the causes of desertion at Jefferson Barracks.

SENATOR MANDERSON has not opened his mouth about the decapitation of FANNIN. He had already secured his rearing and with the $4,000 back pay grab in his pocket he has no occasion to howl.

A THOROUGH investigation by a Court of Inquiry will naturally cause howls of protest from the Corporal Nym, the Ancient Pistol and the Kitchen Sergeants at the Barracks who have been robbing and starving the poor recruits.

A POST COMMANDANT who is compelled to admit that the desertions from his command exceed those of any military command known in the world, and who adds that he knows no reason for the desertions, is not a spectacle calculated to move the admiration of a Molitor or a Wolseley.

AMONG AN UNUSUAL array, even for it, of attractive features the coming SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH will contain a clever and brilliant story entitled "Jascha; a Tale of Number Thirteen," by W. HEIMBURG. This story has been especially translated for the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH by Mrs. EMILY S. HOWARD.

THOSE who listen attentively to the latest reports from the Ohio campaign can distinctly hear shrieks and yells of "liar," "double liar," etc., flying through the air. There was a time when an Ohio campaign decided the national result, but now an Ohio campaign is merely a disgusting display of blackguardism.

THE testimony given yesterday before the Court of Inquiry at Jefferson Barracks by Lieut. HUNT that the daily inspection of food for the recruits commenced only two weeks ago and that given by Lieut. SANDS to the effect that up to two weeks ago the guard-house had been tant to sleep in, shows that the POST-DISPATCH is getting in its work of reform.

MR. HALSTAD, the rejected candidate for the Berlin mission, is out with a letter charging the Hon. JAMES E. CAMPBELL, Democratic candidate for Governor of Ohio, with corruption.

Mr. HALSTAD will be remembered by many as the great war orator who described GRANT as a drunken brute, and expressed his desire to knock LINCOLN's head against the wall.

ENGLISH economists are complaining that military, naval and civil pensions last year amounted to $40,000,000 and swallowed up the whole of the income tax. We paid last year on pension account over $8,000,000, not 1 cent of which came from a rich man's income tax, and every cent of which was produced either by taxes on tobacco and liquors or by taxes on raw materials and the necessities of life.

Or the editors now demanding that naval officers shall be court-martialed for refusing to mess with Minister DOUGLASS, we cannot say how many would refuse to board at a hotel which would admit Mr. DOUGLASS to its table d'hôte. But if they really desire that there shall be no discrimination against him "on account of color," why do they not insist that he is entitled to be minister to some of the big white Governments instead of being sent to Hayti? Haytiens, it is said, hate a mulatto worse than they do a white man.

"A LITTLE judicious persuasion" it is said will induce New Jersey to abandon her foolish habit of electing Democratic Governors. MR. QUAY has provided the "little judicious persuasion" in the shape of a Republican nominee who was a citizen of Pennsylvania and a captain of a Philadelphia troop of cavalry when he was nominated for Governor of New Jersey. But he is worth $5,000,000 and therein lies the judicious persuasion, and the only political persuasion that QUAY knows anything about.

IN the election for Governor of New Jersey, the Republican candidate, E. BURD GRUBB of Pennsylvania, represents $50,000,000 and MR. QUAY's opposition to a secret, independent and unpurchased ballot. The Democratic candidate, ex-Gov. ARBETT, represents the most earnest advocates of the Australian ballot reform, to put an end to the expenditure of enormous corruption funds, "to enable 'the citizen to cast his vote secretly, without fear of intimidation by corporations or individuals,' and thus to prevent bribes from supervising the delivery of purchased votes.

THE acquisition of the California peninsula from Mexico, it is said, will enable us to reclaim by irrigation about four million acres of very rich but arid land in Southern California, and to help this project through Congress it is further said that the acquisition will certainly be followed by the division of California into two States. But what if the Californians should be as overwhelmingly opposed to division as the people of Texas are? The dismemberment of Virginia was an act of war and could never have been accomplished by the consent of her people, as the Constitution requires.

UNITED STATES MINISTERS, when they are white, go to their foreign posts in passenger vessels and pay their way out of the money allowed them for traveling expenses. But FRED DOUGLASS was sent to Hayti in a man-of-war specially detailed to carry him thither, and as he sailed her distinguished passenger was saluted with salvos of artillery. All this fuss and feathers has to be accepted as payment in full by the million or more of colored voters that elected HARRISON, and nobody should grudge this compensation to the multitude of them who are obliged to consider themselves "recognized" and richly rewarded for their party loyalty as long as Mr. DOUGLASS has a good office and a white wife.

THE presumption of the Standard Oil monopoly was never manifested in a more startling manner than when it undertook to enjoin the building of railroads over any lands from the owners of which it had leased the privilege of developing the underlying oil and gas. It thus claimed as lessee a control over the surface greater than was ever possessed by the original owner and lessor, a control which would have secured to the lessee the exclusive right to build and operate railroads over a large area of country in Ohio and Indiana. But the first Ohio court to get a whack at the Standard's injunction has dissolved it and held that the oil and gas lease conferred only the right to such use of the surface as might be necessary to the work of developing and utilizing the gas and oil.

WE are told that the addition of 13,000 names to the pension rolls during the last three months will not greatly enlarge the pension hole in the surplus. Perhaps not. But much slower work in that sort of addition has raised the expenditure on account of pensions from $37,137,019 in 1878 to $88,575,113 in the fiscal year ending July 1, 1889, and there are now about 300,000 pensioners. The wonder is that twenty-five years after the war, when so many persons entitled to pensions have died, and when we are carrying more than three times as large an army of pensioners as any other nation ever had, there should still be three times as many new pension claims proved and allowed every month as were allowed in any month of former years.

THE people are a little suspicious of disabilities developed so long after the alleged cause, and are very distrustful of the evidence trading body ailments to causes so remote.

AT THE BARRACKS.

The Military Court Questioning the Officers' Conduct Toward Recruits.

Two Doses of Bad Meat Served at One Breakfast to the Soldier-Boys.

The Kitchen Sergeant Refused to Obey the Orders and Insisted on the Company Eating Tainted Beef—It is Admitted That a Little More Considerate Treatment Would Decrease the Number of Recruits—The Recruit Reporter Answers a Summons to Testify as to His Experience in the "Post-Dispatch"—To-Day's Session.

Lieut. L. D. Hunt is in command of one of the companies at the Barracks. He was examined yesterday afternoon. Lieut. Hunt let the bars down for a little real information to get through. He complained that the meat for the recruits was not of the best and said that recently the officer of the day had ordered to inspect the meat before its reception.

He was asked his opinion as to the cause of the large number of desertions from the Barracks, but could give no reason satisfactory to himself or the court. Many men, he said, went up to the city, got drunk, and when they became sober, knowing that they had been absent without leave, resolved to stay away.

Col. Lawton asked him if the recruits were instructed that until they were absent ten days they were not to be considered deserters. The witness did not know whether they were or not. One man who had been absent but ten days was tried for desertion and convicted. The War Department remitted the sentence on the ground that the evidence was insufficient.

Lieut. Hunt was asked if he thought the rations issued to the men were sufficient. He said he did not. The ration of bread was not sufficient, nor was that of meat. The meat issued was salt pork, which was not an acceptable food.

The Barracks Adjutant, Lieut. GEORGE A. SANDS, who is in command of the body of mechanics and recruiting officers known as the depot detachment, was examined. The Lieutenant knew of one case of tambling in his company. He was asked if the depot detachment was not a little better than the recruits in company, and he said it was.

When asked concerning the guard-house at Jefferson Barracks, Lieut. Sands said he had no opinion. Within a few days a platform had been built in the guard-house for the prisoners to sleep on. The prisoners were crowded and slept as they could, on the floor or in hammocks made of their blankets. The guard-house was not a very pleasant place to be in. The recruits were not allowed to leave the guard-house until they had been examined by a doctor. The recruits were not allowed to leave the guard-house until they had been examined by a doctor.

command of B Company he had a complaint that the meat for breakfast was bad. He investigated, found the meat bad and ordered the kitchen sergeant to get better meat. The kitchen sergeant disobeyed this order. The Lieutenant put him under arrest, preferred charges, against him, and he was tried by court-martial. At another time when acting as officer of the day three prisoners from Company D were brought before him. They had been given insufficient dinner. The Lieutenant called the attention of D Company to the case, and the kitchen sergeant was sent there. There had been no other cases of abuse that came to the Lieutenant's notice.

WAS HE MURDERED?

Henry Strauch's Mutilated Body Found in the River at an Early Hour This Morning.

A Gaping Gash in the Throat Extending From Ear to Ear Tells How He Died.

A Knife Thrust in the Neck, and Bruises on the Head Indicate That Murder Was Committed—The Police Eagerly Accept the Theory of Suicide in a Fit of Jealousy He Left His Wife and Child and His Whereabouts Were Unknown Until His Body Was Found—His Widow Tells a Frightful Story—He Was Last Seen on Wednesday Driving on Poplar Street With an Unknown Man—There Is a Mystery in It.

Henry Strauch's body was found floating in the river at the foot of East Grand avenue early this morning. The throat was cut from ear to ear, and the head and neck were covered with terrible bruises. The body had the appearance of having been in the water several days. It was removed to the morgue and the police set about to investigate the mystery surrounding the finding of the body. Some circumstances point to murder, and others to suicide.

The body is that of a middle-aged German, apparently about forty years of age. He was 5 feet 11 inches tall, weighed 160 pounds and was dressed in a suit of dark material with white shirt and lace shoes. The hair was long and of a dark color, while the beard and mustache were sandy.

The wounds were of a terrible nature. Across the throat, stretching almost from ear to ear, was a gaping wound whose clean-cut edges demonstrated that the injury had been inflicted with some sharp instrument. In the center of this wound was another and deeper one; a stab which had penetrated the windpipe and which was undoubtedly the immediate cause of death.

On the forehead, the left cheek, left temple and behind the left ear were a series of discolored marks, possibly, by some heavy blunt instrument. As far as could be learned in a hasty examination, the skull was not fractured.

LITTLE PROPERTY. In the vest of value was found on the body. In the vest of value was found on the body. In the vest of value was found on the body. In the vest of value was found on the body.

POINT TO A MURDER. The two wounds in the throat and the many bruises on the head point to foul play and indicate a sudden attack from the left side. The wound on the forehead, the left cheek, left temple and behind the left ear were a series of discolored marks, possibly, by some heavy blunt instrument.

Reception to Dr. Chilton.

A very pleasant and agreeable surprise was given by the members and friends of the First M. E. Church South, to their pastor, at the parsonage, corner of Glasgow and Dayton streets, in a pond party on Tuesday evening, October 1. The party was given in recognition of the pastor's return to the church for another year. A glance of the well-filled parlors and tables with their abundance of delicacies to tempt the appetite would dispel the idea that any other spirit but that of love to the pastor and his family existed. Some of the presents were beautiful. Among them were a fine gold-headed cane, presented to the pastor by Mr. W. J. Tompkins. Singing and social intercourse were the pleasures of the evening. Among the company were: Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Tompkins, Mr. and Mrs. C. Ketchum, Mr. Alfred Conzelmann, Mr. Sam C. Owens and many others. The affair lasted a late hour, when all took a pleasant and agreeable evening.

Book of Prayer Changed.

At the Episcopal Convention in New York yesterday resolutions were passed deciding to make the changes in the book of common prayer which have been proposed for a number of years. This means that every Episcopal minister will want a new prayer book. The local dealers in religious books, anticipating the demand, have been busy for some time. The Episcopal prayer books run low and were not caught with many on hand. Now that the new books have been decided on they will all order a big supply of the new prayer books, as it is expected that a new prayer book will be a common Christmas gift among Episcopalians.

CAUGHT IN AMERICA.

Antonio Gallo, Who Murdered His Rival in Italy, Under Arrest.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—After four years of involuntary exile from his native country, Antonio Gallo was a prisoner yesterday at police headquarters. Four weeks ago Charles Conard, attorney for the Italian Consul, invoked the aid of Chief Inspector Byrnes to capture Gallo, who was wanted in Italy for attempted murder. He was known to be in this country. Detectives Tassaro and Perazzo were detailed on the case. Tassaro soon learned that Gallo was working in a Pittsburgh rolling mill. Wednesday he found him and arrested him under arrest. An ugly looking silexito was removed from his pocket and handcuffed to his wrists. He was landed safely in a cell at headquarters at midnight. Carlo Casaletti and Antonio Gallo were rivals for the smile of a beautiful young girl of 17 who was the acknowledged belle of Fazzano, Italy, but she preferred Carlo and became his wife. Gallo felt the rejection keenly and followed the bride everywhere she went, pressing her suit and urging her to elope with him under threats of personal injury to her or her husband in case of refusal. So persistent was he in his importunities that the frightened girl was forced to conceal herself when her husband was absent. On the evening of September 18, 1885, the husband and the persecutor of his wife met at a ball at Fazzano and the former forcibly ejected Gallo from the room. The following day the jealous and enraged lover armed himself with a double-barreled shotgun, loaded to the muzzle with buckshot and scrap iron, and set out to murder the fortunate bridegroom. Caught not expecting the machine-guns, Gallo did not resist, but when his avenger arrived, and Gallo, concealed behind a large tool-box, which he had used for his body, Gallo escaped to the mountains and Carlo was taken home on a stretcher. His life was saved, but he was left a hopeless cripple and almost an imbecile. Kluding the searching parties which secured the mountains, Gallo made his escape and came to this country a year afterwards, settling in Milford, Mass., under an assumed name. In that quiet town he distinguished himself by insulting ladies and attempting violent assaults upon a beautiful girl who was a neighbor. He eluded the police by flight, and after leading the life of a vagabond, he became a piddler in an iron mill. He was taken before United States Commissioner Fields yesterday and sent to the city of New York. Mr. Conard announced that the necessary papers awaited the signature and seal of Secretary Blaine.

Henry Patterson, after leaving the army, took charge of a large steel factory in that city. Capt. Patterson and his wife died some time ago, and the estate was left to young Harry in charge of his guardian, Mr. Charles E. Spear. Lately Harry has been studying at Lawrence University, near Chicago, to take the entrance examinations at Princeton. The past summer the lad has traveled in Europe with a tutor. He returned the week of September he returned from Europe, and on his way to Pittsburgh stopped for a few days at his father's home. He was met by S. M. Felton, the First Vice-President of the Erie road, who resides at 57 West Seventy-third street. On September 16 Harry announced his intention of returning to Pittsburgh by the limited express on the Pennsylvania road. His trunk was sent to the station, and he went down on the Elevated road. An expressman says the young man got his check for his trunk, and that in the last that has been seen of young Patterson. His health and mind were sound, and he was not known to drink or have any intemperance which would lead him to disappear from his friends so silently and completely. Harry Patterson is a stepson of Mrs. Felton's sister, and all the members of the family, both in this city and Pittsburgh, are greatly worried. Harry had with him only enough money to pay his way home. Detectives have been employed to make a thorough search for the young man.
